Yokohama HQ For Gen. Doug

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 30 (INS)—Triumphant Gen. Douglas MacArthur today directed the swiftly developing bloodless occupation of Japan from newly established headquarters in Yokohama. In the hours since his arrival at Atsugi airfield on the outskirts of Tokyo, occupation forces have clamped a firm grip on the Tokyo-Yokohama-Yokosuka naval base area and all reports indicated Jap authorities were complying eagerly with his orders.

MacArthur, his favorite corncob pipe clenched in his mouth, took personal command upon landing at Atsugi and quickly opened headquarters in the new Grand Hotel at Yokohama.

There was no immediate indication as to when or where MacArthur would first meet Emperor Hirohito, who will now rule only through the victorious general's commands, but MacArthur said he would meet government committees, "probably tomorrow."

BULLETIN

YOKOHAMA, Aug. 30 (AP)—While Japanese troops guarded the highway a battalion of 750 men of the 11th Air-borne Division moved into and occupied this sixth city of Japan this afternoon.

The tall, five-starred Supreme Allied Commander, fulfilling at last his pledge to go "on to Tokyo," was received on Japan's "sacred soil" by an honor guard of veteran United States fighting men in full battle dress.

MacArthur's personal plane, the "Bataan," soared over the occupied Jap airstrip shortly before 2 p. m. (1 a. m. Thursday EWT.) and landed a few minutes later.

As the Allied commander stepped from his plane he was greeted by Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army.

MacArthur looked spruce and trim as he posed for photographers who recorded his historic arrival.

Before leaving on the 18-mile trip to Yokohama, MacArthur said the occupation was going "splendidly" and expressed the hope that all plans would be carried out without friction or bloodshed.

The supreme commander's car moved off the airfield through lines of his own troops, while thousands of other American doughboys already were deployed over the Tokyo-Yokohama area and U. S. Marines were in control of the Yokosuka naval base.

Thousands of American aircraft—including B-29s and carrier planes—darkened Nippon's skies as approximately 20,000 airborne and seaborne troops poured quickly and efficiently into the heart of Japan in the first few hours of today's operations.

More than 7500 green-clad paratroopers—ready for any show of resistance from the Japs poured from giant American air transports which began arriving at Atsugi at three-minute inter-

'Looks Like Payoff'

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Here is the text of Gen. MacArthur's comment to American troops on his arrival at Atsugi Airfield today:

"From Melbourne to Tokyo was a long road . . . a long, hard road. But this looks like the payoff. The surrender plans are going splendidly and completely according to prearrangement. In all the outlying theaters, fighting has practically ceased and every area is preparing to capitulate and surrender.

"In this particular area a week ago the enemy had about 300,000 troops. These have now been disarmed and demobilized. The Japs seem to be offering us complete good faith and there is every hope for success in the capitulation—that it will continue without friction and without unnecessary bloodshed."

Ace Tells of Capture, Torture

ABOARD MERCY SHIP REEVES OFF OMORI PRISON CAMP, Tokyo Bay, Aug. 30—Surviving 20 months of secret imprisonment and torture treatment with a baseball bat, Marine Major Gregory (Pappy) Boyington, Southwest Pacific flying ace, was rescued today by an expedition commanded by Commodore Roger Simpson. He was one of 500 American war prisoners to be liberated from appalling conditions of filth and Jap torture.

Boyington, reported dead when shot down over Rabaul, New Britain, had 26 Jap planes and a Congressional Medal of Honor to his credit. His mother, Mrs. Grace Hallenbeck of Okanogan, Wash., never gave up hope of his return.

"I was shot down on the morning of Jan. 3, 1944," the Marine ace said. "I had 20 MM wounds in my head, neck, arms and an ear, and a broken ankle. My main gas tank blew up. I flipped the Corsair on her back, unfastened my safety belt and dropped 100 feet to the water, stunned.

"My Mae West lifebelt failed to inflate and investigation revealed 200 holes in it. I shucked my shoes and clothes and treaded water. Four Nips in Zeke fighters strafed me until they ran out of ammunition. I finally located my plane's rubber lifeboat and inflated it okay. After a few hours a Jap submarine surfaced near me by coincidence and took me aboard off Cap St. George. The sub transported me to Rabaul.

"At Rabaul I was blindfolded and handcuffed and my medical equipment was taken away. I was questioned all night long.

"I had no medical treatment for 10 days, during which time my festering wounds smelled so foully that I wondered how the Japanese questioners could stand the stench. On the 11th day another internee was permitted to apply hot water bandages.

"I was held two months at Rabaul, during which time I was trucked into town daily from the camp for continuous grilling. There were 20 other airmen in the camp but I was singled out as a special prisoner, with no prisoner of war privileges.

On March 7, 1944, I was transferred to a secret navy camp in the country village of Una, Japan, for questioning.

"It was here that I was given the baseball bat treatment. It consists of standing with your hands tied while a guard slugged my back and legs with the bat as hard as he could. My rump was so swollen I could see it over my

TOKYO, Aug. 30 (INS)—Four war correspondents, including this reporter, were the first Allies to enter the war-shattered city of Tokyo this morning and they were allowed to pass unnoticed by inhabitants of the unhappy Japanese capital.

Three other correspondents and I drove by the imperial palace, chatted with the manager of the partly damaged Imperial Hotel, were received affably by the president of Domei and inspected the Japanese agency's newsroom. We also met the director of the foreign bureau of Radio Tokyo.

I left Atsugi this morning in a battered sedan in an attempt to reach the capital. Guards saluted smartly at first, but as we got away from the airfield area they either turned their backs or stared stonily. None of us felt too cheerful.

We passed through the flattened outskirts of industrial Yokohama. At the beginning of Tokyo city limits our car was stopped. After some palaver between an officer and our interpreter, Yamata, we were allowed a pass.

We bumped over neglected roads, passed big Shinagawa railroad station, crowded with demobilized soldiers, and street cars jammed with uniformed men and women clad in slacks. Yamata took us to the Domei building, and there we nervously made our first public appearance.

(Editor's note—Japan's Domei News Agency, in a broadcast, asked the Federal Communications Commission to relay the following to International News Service from its veteran correspondent, Frank Robertson. Tokyo radio said Robertson was the first Allied newsman to enter Tokyo).

He led us straight to the big city room, crowded with more than 200 busy men and girls who gaped at their first sight of American uniforms.

Foreign Editor Saji Hasegawa came forward smilingly to greet us, and he and others talked without a trace of self-consciousness.

We drove by mile upon mile of completely flattended areas. Though it is estimated the city is 75 per cent destroyed the downtown section in the area of the Imperial Palace is generally intact. The palace has been hit but not badly damaged.

Gen. Yamashita Gives Up Sept. 3

MANILA, Aug. 30 (INS)—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, self-styled "Tiger of Malaya," today agreed to surrender formally in the summer capital of the Philippines palace at Baguio Sept. 3.

Maj. Gen. E. H. Leavey, chief of staff to Lt. Gen. W. D. Styer, will accept the surrender of all forces under Yamashita, who will be flown to Manila and jailed in the new Bilibid prison.

Yamashita, commanding all Jap troops in the Philippines, was the enemy general who arrogantly officiated at the British surrender of Singapore.

Nip Admiral Nervous, Irked at Surrender

By HAL BOYLE

YOKOSUKA NAVAL BASE, Tokyo Bay, Aug. 30 (AP)—Five hours after the first United States marine stepped ashore on Japan two Nipponese admirals formally surrendered this shattered home base of her vanished fleet to American commanders in a brief ceremony.

The surrender was held on a pier by the side of the cruiser San Diego under the shadow of a giant skeleton port crane, beneath a blazing sun.

Driven to the surrender scene in a Domei, Japanese agency, press car, Vice Adm. Michitaro Totsuka, commander of the naval base and of Japan's first naval district, rode past battered tin and concrete buildings which housed the empire's largest naval repair and construction yards.

He alighted from the car and stood—silent, nervous and annoyed—while American Marines formed an honor guard. Totsuka, a short, plump, elderly man clad in black shoes, green naval uniform and white gloves, repeatedly mopped his perspiring brow with a white handkerchief and impatiently brushed at his graying mustache. There were dark circles under his black eyes.

Impassively waiting at his side were his chief of staff, Rear Adm. Masaharu Kawabata, and a middle-aged Japanese civilian who spoke excellent English. Admiral Totsuka wore nine battle ribbons and decorations in three rows on his chest.

After the Japanese party had waited 10 minutes, American naval officers came down the gangplanks of the San Diego at 11 o'clock. Leading them were Rear Adm. Robert Carney, chief of staff to Adm. William F. Halsey, and Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger, naval task group commander.

They paused and the Japanese walked 30 feet to meet them. All four admirals saluted. They didn't shake hands.

134 Superforts Drop PW Food

GUAM, Aug. 30 (AP)—One hundred and thirty-four Superforts continued their mercy missions today, carrying 1,072,000 pounds of supplies to prisoners of war in the Tokyo, Sendai, Osaka, Hiroshima, Kakodate, Fukuoka, Formosa, Korea and Mukden areas.

Each plane carried 8000 pounds of supplies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30 (AP)—Food packages dropped from two American planes instantly killed four Allied prisoners of war Tuesday, Japan's Domei agency said today.

Moves to Cancel 42 Billion Aid Debt

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—President Truman notified Congress today that the more than $42,000,000,000 this country spent on Lend-Lease aid to its Allies should, in the main, be written off the books. The reason—made clear in a lengthy report Mr. Truman sent to Capitol Hill—is that the administration believes the United States received three things more important than a dollar basis settlement. They are:

1—Victory over Germany and Japan.

2—More than $5,600,000,000 through last March in Reverse Lend-Lease.

3—A commitment from all nations receiving Lend-Lease to join in organizing postwar international trade on the basis of lowering barriers.

In a letter accompanying the report, Mr. Truman said:

"With the defeat of the Axis powers, whose ruthless plan for world conquest and enslavement came so close to succeeding, the United States has realized the major objective for which Lend-Lease aid has been extended.

The President has ordered Lend-Lease operations halted effective V-J Day.

Meanwhile, arrangements are being worked out with Lend-Lease countries to switch their commerce to a peacetime basis. American officials will begin conversations with a British delegation next week for some sort of credit substitute.

Summing up the gigantic program, Mr. Truman said: "Each of our principal fighting partners has contributed to the pool of armed might in accordance with its full abilities and capacities."

Now, he added, the lend-lease arrangements are being wound up in an "expeditious and orderly manner, subject to military needs for the movement of troops or for occupation purposes."

The report itself was even more specific on the question of final settlement.

"The overwhelming portion of lend-lease aid which now totals over $42,000,000,000," it said, "has been directly consumed by our Allies in the war."

It added that if so huge a debt were to be added to the enormous financial obligations already incurred by foreign governments "it would have a disastrous effect upon our trade with the United Nations and hence among production and employment at home."

The cost of Lend-Lease represents approximately 15 per cent of the total United States war effort valued at $280,000,000,000.

Most of the exports went to the United Kingdom. These, exclusive of services, were valued at approximately $13,500,000,000. Russia was the next heaviest recipient with $9,000,000,000.

What War Cost In Lives, Money

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—European and Pacific combat casualties—both Army and Navy—included 232,883 killed; 651,218 wounded; 42,969 missing and 122,747 prisoners.

There were 17,300 surgical amputations; 7300 men were deafened to some degree; 1190 were blinded in one or both eyes.

The war cost us a total of $287,181,000,000, compared with $289,000,000,000 spent by Germany, $49,154,000,000 by Japan and $135,856,000,000 by Russia, our nearest Allied competitor in the spending line.

Americans coughed up $119,346,228,000 in taxes during wartime. War-developed Treasury indebtedness will hit $208,226,445,700 with war bond subscriptions and all other securities.

Mother Claims 3 Lynn Babies Police Rescued

Mrs. Barbara Gannett, 28, of Bond st., Lynn, returned home this morning to claim her three children Lynn police had placed in the Lynn hospital during the night after they had found them alone crying in an empty house.

The three taffy-haired blue-eyed boys quickly became the idols of the hospital. The oldest, Charles, 3, has laughing sapphire eyes and pure golden hair. The nurses promptly dubbed him "Whitey" and managed to find time to coo over him between their busy tasks. The second boy, Stephen, 2, a solemn child, was showered with gifts of picture books and cloth animals. William, 5 months, the only one needing medical attention, was suffering from an ear infection.

Police found the youngsters when neighbors reported the baby crying. They found the screen door closed but the regular door wide open and all other doors unlocked.

They took the children to the hospital and started an investigation.

This morning Mrs. Gannett returned and told policewoman Theresa McDermott she had left the house last night to visit her mother in Nahant, Mrs. Avis Cullis who, she said, had an infected foot. She said she had left a 14-year-old girl in charge of the babies.

The mother said her husband, Charles Gannett, is a Gloucester fisherman, now at sea.

Truman Puts Pearl Harbor Trials Up to Army, Navy

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—President Truman announced today that he will not order courts-martial in the Pearl Harbor disaster. He said the entire country shares in the blame.

As some Congressmen set up a clamor for military trials to shed more light on America's greatest defeat in arms the President told his news conference:

"I think the country is as much to blame as any individual in this final situation that developed in Pearl Harbor."

That was his analysis to a news conference today after studying the official documents on investigations of the setback which this country suffered when the Japanese struck Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941.

Mr. Truman authorized this quotation:

"I came to the conclusion that the whole thing is the result of the policy which the country itself pursued. The country was not ready for preparedness.

"Every time the President (Franklin D. Roosevelt) made an effort to get a preparedness program through the Congress, it was stifled. Whenever the President made a statement about the necessity of preparedness, he was vilified for doing it.

"I think the country is as much to blame as any individual in this final situation that developed in Pearl Harbor."

Questioning brought from the President these additional points:

1—He has no objection to a court-martial but will not order one.

2—He still favors a unity of command for the Army and Navy, as he always has, but has nothing further to say on that now.

3—The President agrees fully and completely with Secretary of War Stimson that aspersions cast on former Secretary of State Cordell Hull by an Army board of inquiry were uncalled for.

4—Mr. Truman does not agree with Chairman May (D) of Kentucky of the House military committee that the official documents on the Pearl Harbor inquiries constitute a "whitewash."

5—To protect sources of information, it remains necessary to withhold the full and complete record of the Pearl Harbor inquiries, including those of a commission headed by former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts

6—The chief executive said he knew of no reason why persons blamed for the Pearl Harbor disaster could not make public their sides of the question without a court-martial. He said he would put no muzzle on them.

Pearl Harbor Top Secret Hidden Says Sen. Byrd

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (INS)—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D.) of Virginia charged today that the Pearl Harbor reports issued yesterday "are not inclusive of all the facts."

He declared that a Pearl Harbor report marked "top secret" still is being withheld from the American people.

"I am informed that two reports were prepared, one marked 'secret' and one marked 'top secret,'" Byrd said.

"The 'top secret' report has not been made public," Byrd charged.

Shower Cools Air Briefly in Hub

The fellow who looked so silly going off to work with an umbrella this morning didn't look silly at all when he got to town and found the skeptics hugging doorways and subway entrances.

For it really rained. Preceded by dark, hurricane-like clouds, the big, splattering drops soaked thrfough milady's light summer finery in seconds. Men who dashed into the open with newspaper-hoods got a ducking, too.

The brief downpour and northwest gusts dropped the temperature within minutes from an early morning 77 degrees back to 70, although the weather bureau predicts it will get warm again late this afternoon, perhaps as high as 86.

Lightning skipped Boston but was present in many of the suburbs. One bolt struck the cupola of a three-story dwelling in Central st., Somerville, driving out the occupants. Resulting fire caused $300 damage.

The Weather

Red Points to Get More Meat, Butter, Cheese

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Red points will buy about 28 per cent more meat, 50 per cent more cheese, and 25 per cent more butter and margarine, beginning Sunday. Canned milk becomes ration free. Announcing these sharp reductions in red point values today, Price Administrator Chester Bowles attributes them to larger allocations by the Agriculture Department and improved distribution.

Only in the case of fats and oils is the situation tighter than in August, Bowles reported, adding there is no indication of an early improvement there.

He asserted, however, that the situation still does not permit the end of meat rationing "because supplies continue to be tight in many places over the country." He would not guess when the end might come.

Steaks and roasts will be down from 2 to 3 points a pound; hamburger 2, and lamb and veal 1 to 3 points. Pork steaks, chops and roasts go down 1 to 2 points; all bacon 2 points, and spare-ribs drop 3 points.

Creamery butter will cost 12 points. This decrease of 4 makes its point value the lowest since May, 1944. Margarine also goes down to 12 points.

Points for all kinds of rationed cheese were cut in half.

900 A.L. Convention Delegates Now Here

The vanguard of 900 delegates to the 26th annual State convention of the American Legion—expected to be the largest since before Pearl Harbor—arrived today at Hotel Statler for the two-day session.

The convention opens officially tomorrow at 9 a. m. in the Statler ballroom, but officials and delegates will start festivities tonight at 6 p. m. as guests of Mayor Kerrigan at a welcome party in the hotel's Georgian Room.

The State Department executive committee went into its final preconvention session this afternoon to iron out last-minute details and the hotel was filling gradually with uniformed delegates and other Legionnaires, whose ranks are expected to be swelled by 20,000 by Saturday.

Legion officials expect the biggest attendance since before the war, due to the department's increased size. More than 12,000 new members have been admitted in the past year, practically all of them veterans of World War II.

Highlighting tomorrow's opening convention session is the report of the resolutions committee, headed by John H. Burke of Medford, in which Legion recommendations for the postwar reconversion period will be announced.

Feature of the convention for the public, however, will be the Saturday street parade, in which 25,000 are expected to march through Back Bay and downtown streets, with Col. A. J. Lamoureaux of the First Service Command acting as chief marshal.

Nominations for State Department offices will be made tomorrow, with balloting taking place Saturday morning.

Principal interest in the election is in the three-cornered battle for the post of State Department commander to succeed Com. Thomas F. Mackey.

Geroge Gardner, of Boston, Timothy McLaughlin, of South Boston, and Tracy Dibble, of Lynn, are the three candidates for the post.

LONDON, Aug. 30 (AP)—United States Army troops who have special sterling accounts in English banks were officially advised today to withdraw their deposits before Sept. 30 in order to receive the guaranteed pegged rate of $4.025 for each British pound.

"After that date," said an announcement issued by the Office of Fiscal Director, U. S. Army Headquarters, in London and Paris, "the current rate will cease and the exchange will be based on international exchange rates.

"U. S. personnel subject to military jurisdiction who do not quickly take advantage of the chance to withdraw their deposits may sustain a loss when they do eventually convert to American dollars."

Aphids Riot on Beacon Hill

Sedate and elderly Beacon st. ladies uttered shrill chirps of alarm and went hoppity-skippity home today when millions of aphids invaded the State House neighborhood and got in everybody's hair.

Taxi drivers growled, male pedestrians knocked off their own hats trying to brush the insects out of their eyes and bevies of office girls ran for shelter.

The aphids loved it. They lit on men's shirt collars and crawled happily down backs that soon began to writhe. They flew up sleeves and down low dresses. They crawled up trouser legs. By scores and hundreds they chinned themselves on cars and danced tiny jigs on noses.

Finally, they swarmed away to have fun in the Public Garden.

Cruiser Canberra Here For Repair, Story Told

The heroic battle record of the heavy cruiser USS Canberra was disclosed by the First Naval District today as Boston Navy Yard workers rushed completion of repairs to damage she suffered off Formosa last October after a year of continuous Pacific action. The near-fatal blow to the Canberra, named for the Australian cruiser sunk in 1942 in the Battle of Savo island, came last Oct. 13 when a Jap torpedo plane scored a direct hit during an attack on her task force.

Limping out of action, she was replaced immediately by the USS Houston. The following day this heavy cruiser, too, fell victim to a direct hit from a Jap torpedo plane.

The crippled cruisers, even as they were towed from the scene, played a further heroic role in Adm. Halsey's plan to lure the enemy fleet out for decisive action, serving as bait which the Nips nearly but not quite nibbled.

Fighting flames and flood and the mass attack of a horde of land-based Jap planes, the two wounded cruisers eventually wormed their way clear, drawing the special commendation of Adm. Halsey in a message to his Third Fleet. It read:

"For skill and guts, the safe retirement of the damaged Canberra and Houston from the shadow of the Formosa Coast under heavy attack will become a Navy tradition. To all hands who contributed to the job: Well done!"

One officer and 23 enlisted men were killed instantly by the torpedo explosion, which destroyed boiler rooms and temporarily flooded the Canberra's engine rooms. Greater Boston victims were: EM 3c Harold E. Horner, 20, Quarley rd., Roslindale; EM 3c Gerold J. Keenan, 19, Atlantic st., West Roxbury, and F 1c Arthur J. Marchi, 20, Liberty ave., Somerville.

A number of wounded were awarded the Purple Heart. Among them were S 1C Christie A. DeSisto, 20, Furness st., Revere; S 1C Montrose W. Atherton, 24, Linwood st., Somerville; S 1C Vincent E. Cincotta, 21, Parker rd., Newton; S 1C Zenephon Janedy, 21, Webster st., Somerville, and F 1C Daniel P. Ryan, Riverview rd., Brighton.

Lt. (jg) William Massier, Main st., Charlestown, also was awarded the Bronze Star for heroism during the successful evasive action.

The seven Jap planes which attacked the task force were shot down, although one succeeded in scoring a hit on the Canberra.

She was taken in tow by the USS Wichita. When the Houston met the same fate she was towed away by the cruiser Boston.

As the two vessels, later shifted to the care of Navy tugs, were starting toward a Pacific repair base, they were pressed into service as "sitting ducks" in Adm. Halsey's bold ruse to lure the enemy fleet out of hiding.

The bait almost worked, a Jap task force heading toward them, but for some mysterious reason the enemy fled just as Halsey was ready to spring his trap and close with them.

The Canberra limped back 2300 miles to the Admiralty Islands and, after temporary repairs, made the 10,000-mile journey to Boston.

MRS. MINA Y. DIDZBALIS
Her Judo Too Much For Attackers

Nurse's Judo Tactics Rout Two Bandits

WORCESTER, Aug. 30—A flying mare hold, deftly executed by a nurse, landed two youthful would-be holdup men in district court today.

The nurse, Mrs. Mina Y. Didzbalis, 33, of Williams st., was on her way home from her duties at Worcester Memorial Hospital shortly after midnight when the pair sprang upon her in a robbery attempt.

Samuel Jigerian, 17, of Laurel st., jumped her from behind and seized her by the throat but a second later he was hurtling through the air to land sprawled on his back, victim of a flying mare.

The nurse whipped a knife from her handbag, held it at his throat and screamed for help. Jigerian's companion, Philip T. Trudell, 21, of Portland st., fled but was captured a few minutes later.

Arraigned in district court today, the pair were ordered held in $1500 each for the Superior Court on charges of assault with intent to rob. Police said both youths had records and Trudell was on parole from Concord Reformatory.

The nurse explained she had been instructed in judo and other forms of self defense by her husband, Sgt. Anthony W. Didzbalis, now stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, and that it was on his insistence she carried the knife.

Hub Route Quiz

Mapping the postwar road building program, investigators of the State Department of PublicWorks today began quizzing motorists on main arteries throughout Greater Boston.

Drivers were asked where they had departed from and what routes they had travelled in an effort to learn what roads bear the brunt of present day traffic.

A total of 125 persons will be needed for a two-month period to complete the work.

CHILD TO WATCH OVER PARENTS—Carroll Hood, Jr., 12 (right), tells his parents, Carroll and Mildred, that he has been deputized by Chicago Judge Charles E. Byrne to arbitrate their domestic difficulties. The court made the decision when Carroll, Jr., made some profound remarks as to his opinion on what was wrong with the Hood family life. Soldier In-Law Held In Vt. Slaying of 4

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., Aug. 30 (AP)—Pvt. Bernard Romprey, 28, waived extradition here today when questioned by Chittenten County, Vt., authorities in connection with the slaying of four persons near Burlington, Vt.

State's Atty. Clarke A. Gravel and Sheriff Dewey Perry of Burlington said they were unable to question the Camp Wheeler, Ga., soldier because he "seemed erratic" when he was taken before Bergen County Judge Del Mar today. Romprey has been in the Army four months.

They said they would take the soldier back to Burlington.

Romprey was apprehended by local police yesterday on a murder warrant issued by Chittenten County authorities after the soldier's brother-in-law and the latter's wife and two children were found shot to death at their farm home near Burlington.

The dead were Bliss Mansfield, farm machinery dealer; his wife, Marion, and their two children, Faye Joyce, 6, and Richard Allen, 4.

Gravel said Romprey was found with his wife, Bertha, and their two children, Wayne, 6, and Faye, 2, in the home of friends here, where Mrs. Romprey said they had been visiting since early yesterday.

The prosecutor said Mrs. Romprey told authorities she knew nothing of the slayings until yesterday when police arrested her husband. She said the soldier "acted queerly" on the train en route to Englewood.

Gravel said police found a .32-caliber gun in Romprey's possession.

A boy who went to the Mansfield farm yesterday and attempted to release a cat he found scratching at a window in the farmhouse, discovered Mrs. Mansfield's body on the kitchen floor, a bullet wound behind her ear. Others responding to an alarm found Mansfield dead in a cornfield and the children, clasped in each other's arms, dead in a manger.

Charge Janitor With Rent Trick

A Merchant Marine hero and two other persons, who asserted they had paid $50 bonuses for apartments they never obtained, were complainants in Dorchester District Court today against Thomas Brennan of Blue Hill ave., Mattapan, janitor of an apartment building there.

Brennan, who is charged with larceny, did not appear. Judge Richard M. Walsh was told he was ill. The case was continued to Sept. 11. According to Sgt. William F. Healey of Mattapan, Brennan refunded the payments after the matter was called to the attention of the OPA and the Boston Better Business Bureau.

The complainants were Nathan Rudnick of New Hampshire, chief mate of a merchant vessel; Leon Saef, Columbia rd., Dorchester, and Mrs. Lena Kaplan of Leston st., Dorchester.

Sued Fiancee Gives Up Ring

His romance went on the rocks but Louis Zaharoff of Nightingale st., Dorchester, World War II veteran, retrieved the platinum-mounted diamond engagement ring.

Last week Zarharoff brought an equity suit in Superior Court to recover the ring from Miss Jean Bavley of Goodale rd., Dorchester. He said she had reneged on ehr promise to marry him, and he had returned to her a gold ring she gave him when hes lipped the glittering diamond on her finger — so why shouldn't she give it back?

Judge Thomas F. Dowd issued a temporary injunction restraining Miss Bavley from disposing of the ring. Today he was told she had returned it. The case was dismissed.

Fights Over Lost Hat, Near Death

A trip from his second floor apartment in Middlesex st., South End, to retrieve his hat proved costly today for George Xepeades, 47, reported dying at City Hospital after a battle with two neighbors.

During an argument, Xepeades was thrown through the plate glass window of a plumbing shop.

Police later held two men, 64 and 58 years old, in connection with the attack.

Babs Divorces Cary Grant; 'He Didn't Like My Friends'

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30 (AP)—Barbara Hutton, thrice-married dime store heiress, was granted a divorce today from Cary Grant in a brief hearing at which the British-born film actor did not appear.

"He did not like my friends," Miss Hutton testified. "When he came down and my friends were there he obviously didn't look amused. That upset me. It made me very nervous and that caused me to go under a doctor's care."

Her attorney, Jerry Giesler, told the court there was no property settlement and that waivers to that effect had been signed by both parties. Grant's attorney confirmed that statement.

The year before her marriage to Grant, Miss Hutton was divorced from the former Danish count, Curt Haugwitz-Reventlow. Previously she was the wife of Alexis Mdivani, Georgian prince killed in an automobile accident after their 1935 divorce.

At the Mayor's office today His Honor presented gifts to these "Sweethearts in Overalls" representing the city's gratitude for their effort.

East Boston Man Held in Attack

Captured by a merchant seaman after he had allegedly attempted to attack Mildred Maluda, 21, of Mt. Vernon st., Beacon Hill, attractive blonde night club waitress, as she walked home through Boston Common, John Souza, 33, Saratoga st., East Boston, was ordered held in $2000 today for the grand jury.

Miss Maluda testified she was attacked from behind and knocked to the ground by her assailant.

ASSESSORS WARNED

Assessors in cities and towns of the State today were warned by State Treasurer John E. Hurley they cannot delegate their authority to clerks in signing certification of residence for those seeking the state bonus for discharged servicemen.

Harvard Asked For Aid to Save Siamese Twins

PHOENIX, Ariz., Aug. 30 (AP)—Arizona's Siamese twins were reported to be "more than holding their own" today as scientists worked to save them.

Fr. Emmett McLoughlin, O. F. M., superintendent of Santa Monica Hospital, appealed last night for a rare chemical substance developed by the Harvard research latoratories called fibrin film, a product of blood plasma.

He said it might be used to cover the exposed underside of the umbilicus, danger point where death lurks nearest. The four-day-old twins are joined at the abdomen and the umbilicus is covered only by a thin membrane. It is hoped the fibrin film will strengthen this and stimulate further growth.

A pathologist, Dr. Maurice Rosenthal, predicted that an operation—not to sever the twins—might succeed in permitting them to walk side by side. They now have to lie facing each other.

Dr. Frank Edel, who issued the favorable report on the twins' condition, said no operation would be performed in the near future since he wanted to give them a chance to gain strength.

Harvard University authorities today said they had not yet received the request for fibrin film but that any request would get prompt attention.

Farm Boy, 17, Held in Breaks

A 17-year-old New Bedford farm boy, now on probation from Shirley School, today led police to five apartments he ransacked in Boston and implicated three others in a two-week series of robberies.

The youth pointed out places he had robbed in Carver, Mt. Vernon and Beacon sts., Back Bay and in Laconia and Dover sts., South End. Taken were suits, jewelry and a typewriter.

Held for questioning at police headquarters were another 17-year-old New Bedford youth, here for a two-day visit, and two other youths who allegedly pawned for them a watch taken in one of the breaks. The latter two are a 19-year-old North End youth and a youthful South End boxer.

Trains Promised For Holiday Travel

For the first time since early in the war, Labor Day weekenders can travel to their favorite mountain and seashore resorts in northern New England with assurance of adequate train accommodations.

The Boston & Maine and Maine Ceneral railroads today announced conditions might be a bit crowded on some runs but that there would be enough extra trains to serve all who wish to take advantage of the final summer holiday.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Wainwright Awed

MANILA, Aug. 30—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, pale from his years in enemy prison camps, stepped from his plane today en route from Chungking to Tokyo to witness Japan's surrender.

He saw a Manila he "wouldn't recognize," it is so overflowing with Allied military power.

Wearing three large old-style stars on his shirt, Wainwright was visibly shaken by his return to the city he saw fall.

Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, Gen. MacArthur's intelligence officer, welcomed Wainwright on behalf of the supreme commander, and President Sergio Osmena greeted him on behalf of the Philippine Commonwealth.

With Wainwright were his aides, Lt. Col. John Pugh and Maj. Thomas Dooley; his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, and his orderly, Sgt. Herbert Carroll.

Wainwright's first words as he greeted President Osmena—"this place has changed so I wouldn't recognize it"—summed up the vast difference in America's military might since he commanded his pitifully inadequate forces on Corregidor less than four years ago.

Little Nichols Field, on which his few scores of planes were bullet-spattered wreckage in 1941, now is a vast airdrome lined with glistening transports.

Along Dewey boulevard Wainwright saw mountains of quartermaster supplies, camp after camp of port battalions, ordnance repairmen and engineers.

In Manila Bay were hundreds of transports, sleek Navy oilers and landing craft the like of which didn't exist when Wainwright last saw the bay.

Wainwright saluted the military police as he stepped from the plane. Crowd lines broke and he and his staff were engulfed by welcoming officers and soldiers.

"This is wonderful, to be back here standing on the same field again and see so many friends," he said.

The Wainwright party will be given anything it desires, on the orders of Gen. MacArthur, according to Col. Sid Huff, Salamanca, N. Y., who said the supreme commander told him, "Give them the best we have."

Of the group of officers meeting the party, Willoughby, Huff and Col. Andres Soriano were the only members of the MacArthur staff who had also been on Corregidor and Bataan when Wainwright was there.

when Haffenreffer & Co., Inc., was founded, New England was one of the world's most active whaling centers. Whale oil was in great demand for use in the lubrication of delicate machinery and for many other industrial and home purposes.

the dramatic whaling industry has become only a memory in America. It has long since been replaced by the development of oil wells, which supply many thousands of times the quantity of oil formerly secured through the activities of a once great whaling fleet. During the seventy-five years which witnessed the passing of the whaling industry, Haffenreffer & Co., Inc., brewers of PICKWICK ALE, have grown steadily through periods of depression and prosperity to occupy an eminent position as one of America's great breweries.

Air Mate Describes Colin Kelly's Death

By ELGAR BROWN
Representing the Combined American Press

ABOARD MERCY SHIP REEVES OFF OMORI PRISON CAMP, TOKYO BAY, Aug. 30 (AP)—How Capt. Colin Kelly actually died in battle was related for the first time today by surviving crewmen of his warplane. Their lips had been sealed for nearly four years by confinement in a Jap prisoner-of-war camp.

America's famed ace, one of the war's first martyrs, didn't sink the Jap battleship Haruna by piling his bomber in a suicide dive against it's stack—but he died a great hero just the same.

PFC Robert Altman, 26, of Sanford, Fla., just evacuated from the vile Omori camp in suburban Tokyo, was loading 500-pound bombs onto the B-17 as a member of Kelly's crew at Clark Field, Luzon, on Dec. 10, 1941. Here is his story:

"Suddenly the Japs launched an air raid and we had to take off with only three bombs. We crossed northwest Luzon and saw the Nips' landing party under the protective bombardment of three destroyers and one heavy battleship cruising further out.

"Capt. Kelly made a run over the battleship, expecting to see a carrier nearby. Finding none, he returned to attack the battlewagon, later identified as the Haruna. We dropped our three bombs in a train, scoring one direct and two indirect hits. The second bomb struck the vessel's bridge.

"The captain's skill was magnificent. Our navigator, Lt. Joseph Bean, observed a black wake and the vessel was burning from the bridge all the way back as we hit for our base at 20,000 feet altitude."

When the plane was five kilometers from Clark Field, Altman related, Kelly dropped to 10,000 feet. Then two Jap fighters planes attacked and set the bomber afire.

"Our plane blew up in less than one minute," Altman said. "Of our eight-man crew, Capt. Kelly never cleared the ship and Staff Sgt. Deleanty, right side gunner, also was killed. I bailed out with five others and reached base unhurt."

The young Florida radioman left Bataan Dec. 29 and operated a ground radio on Mindanao until surrender brought hiscapture. He was moved into Japan, arriving Nov. 14, 1942, at Kawasaki camp.

2 Little Sisters Visit Navy Yard In Birthday Suits

It isn't uncommon, in peacetime or wartime, to see girls waiting outside the entrance to the Boston Navy Yard for their sailor sweethearts, but two Charlestown girls who visited the yard early today were different from the others—they wore nothing but smiles.

It all came about when the Devlin sisters, Sheila, 2½, and Deana, 1½, decided that it was too warm to stay in bed. So they stepped out quietly into the night without mama's knowledge or consent, and, unmindful of the bare fact that they were in the nudist class, strolled from their Tremont st. home to the nearby Navy Yard.

Jack Kashick, taxi driver of Howard ave., Roxbury, stared in amazement at the unadorned and unabashed girls standing outside the main gate apparently deciding whether to enter the restricted area or call it quits.

Playing the role of Knight Gallant, he threw his coat around the tots, lifted them into his cab and took them to the City sq police station, where blushing bluecoats cared for them until their frantic mother rushed in to report them missing from home.

Mystery Grease Bans Magazine Swimming

With a mysterious grease floating in the Charles river, police today banned swimming at Magazine Beach, Cambridge, and began a probe of the condition.

The grease, according to metropolitan police Lt. William Marley, is coming from a surface drain on the Boston side and must emanate from Brookline, Brighton and Allston.

Asked to trace the source are the Boston and Cambridge health departments, as well as the state board of health.

Memo: To Ourselves

Never before in the world's history has a war been decided so far behind the line of battle.

Notwithstanding the smashing blows struck by the Army and the Navy as they fought their way up from Pearl Harbor to a climax in the Pacific, it is a fact that Japan has not been demolished by military might as Germany was. Fortunately for the lives and future happiness of millions of Americans, she surrendered to force in being, and not to force expended, to the superior scientific and productive power of the United States and her allies.

It is fair to say that military and naval power drove this enemy to defeat down a road built by research, by productive efficiency, by the hard work of countless men and women who never heard a shot fired. To all of these Americans we are most grateful.

In the national sorrow for those who gave their lives, in the jubilation of victory, the significance of this truly unique achievement must not escape us, because it is the one advance in human thinking to emerge from the holocaust. If we have learned the lesson of this tremendous power of ours, and will begin to apply it immediately, we may never again have to go to war.

Scientific progress and productive efficiency are the most wonderful weapons of all time because they do not have to be laid aside when the fighting ends. They must not be laid aside. Industry and labor, with the full cooperation of our government, must begin at once to apply them to the problems of peace and reconstruction. I believe we are ready to do that today.

For whatever influence it may have in the shaping of our world economy, the General Electric Company has been preparing to pursue this course for a long time. We are ready with plans that will multiply our services to consumers without increasing the price of those services. We hope to lower them in time.

We have planned to cut manufacturing costs with new methods in order that we may maintain the fullest possible employment and provide our workers with the means of obtaining the highest possible income measured by their cooperative efforts.

We are prepared to invest more than ever before in our history in research so that it will insure for tomorrow more jobs, better working conditions, and more goods for more people at less cost. We believe America has a right to expect these benefits of capitalist enterprise from business.

PEOPLE OPPOSE STRIKES

AMERICAN public opinion is overwhelmingly favorable — almost UNANIMOUSLY so—to adjudication of labor disputes through the peaceful and reasonable method of arbitration rather than by resort to strikes and violence, according to a recent survey conducted by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

Seventy per cent of all persons questioned on the subject hold the favoring opinion, with only 10 per cent being opposed and the remaining 20 per cent being without opinion.

Moreover, the tremendously significant fact evolves from his survey that it is not a reflection of anti-labor or anti-union sentiment among the American people.

For an even greater majority AMONG UNION MEMBERS THEMSELVES—71 per cent—favor arbitration in preference to strikes.

The weight of REASON has always been against strikes and violence as the instruments for the attainment of the just and meritorious objectives of labor.

Now the weight of OPINION is unmistakably and predominantly against them.

THIS IS the happiest of all auguries for a permanently peaceful, productive, progressive and prosperous era of labor-industrial relationships in the United States.

All the American people have been anxious and worried about these vital relationships following the war.

The most ominous predictions have been made about them.

With the restraints of wartime regulations and controls removed and with the unifying emotions and dangers of war relaxed, many people have dreaded a rising tide of economic and social conflicts which would jeopardize our postwar security and perhaps nullify it altogether.

That dread has not been without substance, as the sharp increase of labor disputes and strikes since the end of the European war and especially since the final end of the war in the Pacific, attests.

But the best possible COUNTER ACTION to this alarming and dangerous trend is a vigorous and preponderant public opinion against it.

With organized American labor itself vigorously and preponderantly SHARING AND SUPPORTING that opinion, our prospects for economic and social peace are enormously enhanced.

THERE NEVER has been any GOOD reason why organized American labor should not prefer solution of its problems and remedy of its grievances by the peaceful means of mediation and arbitration rather than by the violent means of strikes.

Mediation and arbitration, conducted impartially and in good faith, make industrial strikes unnecessary.

Eventually, as a matter of fact, even the longest and bitterest of strikes always reach their ultimate settlement through some form of discussion and agreement.

But in the meantime, where strikes and violence are resorted to, the industrial plants are weakened and the public is inconvenienced and the workers themselves endure all manner of hardships.

Surely it would be in the best interests of all—of industry and the public and especially labor—to submit the problems and merits of all disputes to competent mediation and impartial arbitration in the FIRST place, and thus forego the strikes and violence which are always destructive to all concerned, and are largely futile anyway.

The American PEOPLE almost unanimously agree.

American LABOR even more preponderantly agrees.

Why do not the LEADERS of the people and of labor create the national machinery of mediation and arbitration which is so widely approved and universally desired?

STOGIE DEPARTMENT: On several occasions I have warned rash and impetuous young fellows to think carefully before wagering stogies with this department. But most of them pay no attention. They persist in thinking themselves smarter than the old master. They will not heed my sound advice to keep their stogies in their pockets; that a stogie saved is a stogie earned. Take Billy Williams of Detroit, for example, who writes: "What a grievous error you made! How you exposed your ignorance by saying 'Babe' Herman was with Detroit at the same time as Ty Cobb!" Of course, the records show Cobb and Herman did play on Detroit at the same time. So it is Mr. Williams who has made "the grievous error." Start wrapping the stogie, Billy, and I hope this will be a lesson to you.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Have there been many celebrities named Peggy? A—Well, there is Peggy Hopkins Joyce, the Virginia charmer, who married all those millionaires. Also Peggy Wood, the most brilliant actress ever born in Brooklyn. Incidentally, Billie Burke once starred in a film titled "Peggy." The theme song for this picture, also titled "Peggy," was written by Victor Schertzinger, the composer of "Marcheta" . . . Q—Don't you think we have enough race tracks? A—I do. We also have enough cocktail bars. It is ridiculous to limit race tracks and at the same time issue licenses for hundreds of new bars. I am fond of the sport of racing. I like the atmosphere of a quiet, well-conducted bar, but I believe in moderation in both.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—When you call me an optimist, smile. But I am afraid Harry Truman is working out to be a real good American President, and I find the same sweet apprehension among Republicans who never thought to see the day when Hopkins, Biddle, Perkins and the like of them would get the hoist and a fellow didn't have to feel that if he put faith in some Presidential promise or proposition it would blow up in his face like a trick cigar.

Westbrook Pegler

First of all, he showed a very decent respect for Congress which was a greater gain than most of us realized at the time because, after all, it wasn't good for our country to have a lot of impudent upstarts calling up people on the Hill and telling them to do this and do that or to hear a bell-toned voice threaten that if Congress didn't give him a law that he wanted, the voice would make his own law.

No American President ever talked more about his love for the common people than Franklin D. Roosevelt or knew less about them.

He was an aristocrat with a patronizing attitude toward the common people and the course of his life showed that he viewed them objectively.

Servants, mansions, yachts, private schools and aloofness from the lower classes in his case are in contrast to Mr. Truman's life story, and I have observed that the new President doesn't divide people into classes, common and special.

Being of the people himself, he is just natural in his attitude toward them.

I THINK Mr. Truman has been smart in keeping Henry Wallace on as Secretary of Commerce. That keeps Henry boxed up where he can do no very great harm and if he kicks down the stall and goes tearing away, come 1948, he will have for a following only an unimportant minority.

About Ickes I don't know. I would have liked to see Mr. Truman heave him, too. But a fellow can't demand that a President obey all his own prejudices, so I can spot him Ickes and still like him for some of the things that he has done.

For example, I think his appointments of Lewis Schwellenbach to the Labor Department and Paul Herzog to the Labor Relations Board and their statements of policy give promise of a new attitude toward the unions which have been running hog-wild for years.

Schwellenbach said the people in the Department of Labor would be expected hereafter to accept the law as passed by Congress and not read into it meanings which they think Congress should have enacted.

Herzog said his people would have to serve the interests of the whole people of the United States; whereas up to now this group has acted in a belief that it was constituted to serve the CIO and the A. F. of L.

They shouldn't have had to say this, but the fact that they did constitutes an admission that hitherto their departments were serving Roosevelt's political following.

As to whether they mean what they said and intend to compel compliance we will have to wait and see but, on knowledge of Truman as a man and as President to date, I see no reason to suspect him of the sort of trickery that we have been accustomed to so long.

WINSTON CHURCHILL'S squawk over Mr. Truman's announcement of the termination of lend-lease is very satisfying because, admiring this man for his patriotism and courage during the war I think Roosevelt was just snob enough to play up to him because he is a British aristocrat and American aristocrats always have looked up to British aristocrats.

But Mr. Truman won't be impressed by any accent and, while I suppose he will have to do some kind of business to keep Britain going, it is good for all concerned that the world be put on notice that it is time for them to think about getting weaned.

WHATEVER HISTORY'S opinion may be of Mr. Roosevelt as an orator, for a change, at least, I like Mr. Truman's style better, though it reminds me of a sophomore addressing a rally in Memorial Hall at old Siwash the night before the big game.

Do you know who Mr. Truman really is? He is George Spelvin, American.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30—The entire Universal lot turned out en masse to take a good look at the new English actress, Patricia Roc (pronounced Rock), imported for "Canyon Passage." She certainly belies the old idea (American gals probably started it) that English belles aren't glamorous. Patricia is tall, slender, a medium brownette and a beauty.

Ingrid Bergman

The first thing she asked for was stockings, handkerchiefs and a hat! She travelled all the way from London without a chapeau—that's how hard it is to get clothes over there. While they have her here "U" would like very much to keep her on for a second picture, but it is in her deal with Arthur Rank that she return to London immediately after this one pictue for Walter Wanger.

DAVID SELZNICK now definitely plans to be in London between the 15th of May and the 1st of June to produce "Mary Magdalene." When he told me that I said: "I'll put you down for six months later"—for usually he's six months late in starting his pictures. But I do know that he has signed William Dieterle, the director, to go to London for "Mary Magdalene," or "The Scarlet Lily," as the book was originally called. Whether or not Ingrid Bergman will go there for the picture I don't know. She has a commitment on the stage and her contract with Selznick will be up next June.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The Cary Grant-Barbara Hutton divorce comes up this morning. There have been all sorts of rumors that Barbara would leave immediately after her divorce for Europe, but this she denies. "I might go to Europe next summer," she said, "but I have no immediate plans. My house in London has been requisitioned by the Canadian government and I couldn't live there." She has a lease on the Mary Lee-Douglas Fairbanks house in California until April. I just had a letter from Mary Lee saying she expects Douglas will be out of the Navy in January and then they will come here to live again and educate their children. Mary Lee says she's homesick for all of her California friends.

I WAS FORTUNATE enough to barge in on a dinner that Charles Brackett gave for Monty Woolley and see "The Lost Weekend." Monty and Charlie both come from the same town and as we went into the projection room Monty said: "I am not feeling well, so I will probably have to leave before the picture is over." Leave—you couldn't have gotten him out of that projection room—or any of the rest of us. That's how good "Lost Weekend" is.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Ernst Lubitsch's friends will be sorry to hear that he is sick again and in the hospital; David Selznick has rented Miriam Hopkins' house atop a hill in Beverly. Miriam plans to return to New York; Dorothy Parker, who says she came back to Hollywood because she needed the money, greeting friends at luncheon; Mrs. Bradley Martin, Jr., of the verra verra social Bradley Martins, is visiting in Hollywood. Gallant Mike Romanoff has handed over his house to her. Her former husband was Dolly O'Brien's son; Peggy Ryan's mother gave her a birthday party to celebrate her 21st birthday yesterday. Mrs. Ryan, who goes into the hospital for a serious operation, kept the bad news from Peggy until after her birthday; Elsa Maxwell is being given a special glamor treatment for "The Shadow," a movie being made by Bill Goetz; Peggy Ann Kent, daughter of the late Sydney Kent, will take her trouble to the divorce courts, seeking a separation from Capt. Elmer D. Moxley, her fifth and latest husband; Ben Alexander, back from Navy duty, found someone had stolen all of his furniture.

THE HEARST EDITORS, before leaving for New York after a West Coast conference, were all entertained on the RKO lot by Charles Koerner. They had their "pitchers" taken with Joan Fontaine, Dorothy McGuire and Ginger Rogers; Jane Russell has been notified by Howard Hughes that she is to go on a nation-wide tour with "The Outlaw"; Paul-Lewis Weiller, French ace in the last war and manufacturer of airplanes in this war, is the house guest of Sir Charles and Lady Mendl; Tommy Dorsey gave a big birthday party for his ma, Ile and Pat Dane have gone back to New York. At this writing they seem to be getting along all right; Lisette Verea lunching with Felix Ferry. Both are Romanian-born and old friends. That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—My venerable and distinguished friend, Richard Fielding Harless of Arizona, was quite noticeable around our town the other day, leading a delegation of ten-gallon hats.

Maury Maverick

Although there were no steers about in immediate need of roping, the delegates wore all the accoutrements. For a time it seemed as if they might be appropriately equipped at that. A report was circulated that a maverick was on the loose in the lobby of the Statler but it turned out to be Maury Maverick, chairman of the smaller War Plants Corp.

Mr. Maverick, however, declined to be bulldogged. He feels it is undignified for an important bureaucrat to be tossed on his back with his hogtied feet sticking in the air.

Many bureaucrats are that way—narrow, reactionary.

Anyway, these visitors with the cow-prodding skimmers included Carl Hayden, senior Senator from Arizona; Rep. John Murdock, of the same state, and James T. Duane, chief of police of Phoenix. I asked Chief Duane if he was having many arch-criminals this season but he said they ship all the arch ones to Washington.

The delegation went to the White House to put on a little pressure for a veterans' hospital in Phoenix. They talked to President Truman, who said he did not have to be sold on the idea; that he was all for having veterans' hospitals wherever they were needed.

Sen. Hayden presented the President with a large, white cowboy hat, which he said represented a little token of esteem from the folks back home. Mr. Truman flourished the skimmer for the benefit of the photogs, and exclaimed:

"Won't John Nance Garner be jealous when he sees this!"

MAIN REASON for printing the above is that I have long wished to tell you about the stuff the President receives. No matter who he may be—Democrat or Republican; lawyer or haberdasher—the President is always the biggest gift-receiver in the country, not excluding Miss Shirley Temple.

The President has to be very careful in expressing a liking or preference for anything. Franklin D. Roosevelt once remarked casually that he was partial to old-fashioned apple turnovers. A squib to this effect was carried in the newspapers. Within a week the White House was knee-deep in apple turnovers. It seemed as if every baker and every housewife in the country had sent one.

MAIL at the White House is always tremendous. It fluctuates greatly, depending largely on the issues of the moment. It takes an upward leap after every presidential speech.

But one of the heaviest mails in the Truman administration was after the President's visit to his home town of Independence, Mo. It had nothing to do with the war; no relation to lend-lease, or even our retention of Pacific bases.

It was because the papers reported that Mr. Truman had encountered difficulty in buying a shirt his size—15½ with 33 sleeve length!

The President had gone to his old haberdashery store, now run by his former partner, Eddie Jacobson. Mr. Jacobson was out of shirts that size.

By the time Mr. Truman got back to Washington, the White House was stacked with packages containing shirts 15½ with 33 sleeve length. And they kept coming for weeks thereafter!

I DO NOT suppose Mr. Truman will thank me for revealing this, but he has enough shirts his size to last 'im several lifetimes, providing his neck doesn't swell or his arms shrink.

Privately, the President is embarrassed by his great shirt wealth. He would like to give some of them away but he doesn't dare. He is afraid that if he gave away a shirt and the fact became public, every shirt-sender would say:

"I'll bet that was my shirt he gave away!"

THE MOST recurring gifts received by the White House are ashtrays. It sometimes seems as if we are a nation of ashtray-givers. One explanation, however, may be that FDR was so often photographed with a cigaret that admirers were afraid he had nowhere to put the ashes—and the habit of sending them continued.

Recently a delegation from Seattle called upon Mr. Truman. The spokesman bore a huge box. This was pried open in the presidential sanctum and out came a 40-pound salmon!

The visitors shook hands with the President and then walked out—leaving him holding the fish!

EVERY suspicious-looking package arriving at the White House is examined with a fluoroscope by the Secret Service before being opened. In the Truman administration, nothing harmful has been received yet.

shoulder. Then I got slugged in the jaw about 300 times. Similar beatings killed other prisoners in the camp.

"Even the Jap civilians took part in administering the beatings. The barber who shaved our heads every two months, delighted in taking pokes at us.

"A Jap pharmacist mate saw Lt. Bill Harris, the son of Maj. Gen. Phil Harris, who was captured on Corregidor, reading an item about Russian successes in Europe from a newspaper he had fished from a garbage can.

"The Jap called all prisoners into formation and then beat Harris for half an hour with a baseball bat, knocking him down 20 times. When Harris was finally knocked out, the Jap kicked him in the face and ribs with his heavy shoes.

"Harris recovered."

"On April 5, this year, I was transferred to Omori where politeness was the order of the day.

"We were required to bow to the Emperor every morning and also to bow from the waist politely to the guard in asking the Japanese for permission to go to the toilet and then on returning we had to seek out the guard and bow again, thanking him. Since most of the prisoners were suffering from dysentery and could not conform to this rigmarole they were beaten and otherwise punished.

"Our meals consisted of milo maize and rice in a combination tasting like chalk supplemented by soy bean soup which was mostly water. As an occasional treat a fishhead or a seaweed was thrown in.

"My normal weight of 175 pounds fell off to 110 until I wangled a job for myself as a kitchen kobin (slavey), whereon the combination of my year old hunger and the available food ballooned me up to 190."

The Marine ace, who still has boundless energy, but a jaundiced complexion, now weighs 160. The first news that the famed "Pappy" Boyington was still alive came last night when other prisoners, learning of the approach of Com. Simpson's rescue party, painted his name in large letters on a wall.

U. S. Fliers Reveal Brutal Jap Beatings

SHANGHAI, Aug. 30 (AP)—Stories of Brutal Japanese captors who beat them with bamboo sticks and metal rods until they were black and blue from knee to him and could hardly walk, were related here by eight Tmerican fliers.

One airman said he had his wrists tied behind him and had been hung by his thumbs in efforts by the Japanese to force him to reveal invasion plans.

All are in good condition, and their wounds are healing. They still are held by the Japanese, who threatened correspondents with bayonets when they first tried to interview them in the YMCA here.

The city of Shanghai still awaits its official release.

The prisoners are:

Second Lt. Harold H. Eifler, Chicago, pilot of an Army B-24 bomber; 2 Lt. William R. Martin, Jr., Colorado Springs, Col., and Sgt. Clyde J. Sellers, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Navy fliers AMM 1c Walter Pallack, Chicago; AMM 3c Frank Maratea, Chicago; AOM 3c Ted Hauser, North Hollywood, Cal., and S 1c Jens Martinsen, Brooklyn, and S 1c Richard C. Warner, Dalton, Ill.

Eifler and his bomber crew were shot down May 17. The Navy men were on a plane which crashed June 26.

"As the Japs picked up the swimmers, each greeted us by slugging us," Pallack related. "We were beaten every couple of hours.

"Next day, on reaching Shanghai, we were really beaten up by Jap enlisted men taking turns hitting us."

Jap Prison Hospital Called "Pig Hole"

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30—Conditions in prisoners of war camps in Japan were "indescribably awful," Com. Joel T. Boone, chief surgeon of the Third Fleet, was quoted as saying today in broadcast by Norman Paige, ABC correspondent at Yokosuka.

Paige said Boone, former personal physician to Presidents Harding, Hoover and Coolidge, reported "much suffering and much sickness" was found in the camps.

"The Jap hospital had about 150 patients," Boone said. "It shouldn't be called a hospital. It was really a pig hole. I've never seen such a place in my life. It is beyond description."

British Retake Hongkong Port

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 30 (AP)—A strong British naval force commanded by R. Adm. C. H. J. Harcourt entered the port of Hongkong today to reoccupy the Crown Colony, British Pacific Fleet Headquarters announced here tonight.

The British force included the 23,000-ton aircraft carrier Indomitable, the new 35,000-ton battleship Anson, the Venerable, the cruiser Euryalus, the Canadian armed merchantship Prince Robert, six destroyers, eight submarines, seven Australian minesweepers and the hospital ship Oxfordshire.

"The ships carry special medical supplies for prisoners of war and internee civilians and additional naval personnel to take over the port and restore it to full working order," the communique said.

vals, starting at 6 a. m. today (5 p. m., Wednesday, EWT).

Maj. Gen. Joseph Swing's veteran 11th Airborne Division spearheaded the first movement of massed occupation troops and immediately fanned out from Atsugi, taking positions 20 miles to the north of Tokyo, to the east in the Yokohama area and to the south toward Hayama, site of Emperor Hirohito's summer palace.

Just 18 miles to the east of Atsugi, some 13,000 American leathernecks, bluejackets and British marines swarmed over the Yokosuka naval base and the surrounding area.

The amphibious landings on the shores of Tokyo bay and the airborne operations at Atsugi were carried out smoothly without a shot being fired.

First amphibious armed force to trod Japan's shores dashed from landing craft at 5:58 a. m. just after the sun broke over the horizon to shed its rays on the bomb-battered wastes of the Tokyo area.

Maj. Edward F. Carney, at the head of the Second Battalion of the famed Fourth Marine Regiment, paused dramatically as he stepped onto the shore and said: "Well—so into the Rising Sun!"

Marine combat teams quickly spiked the Jap guns on three island fortresses in Tokyo and on the Futtsu peninsula and hoisted the Stars and Stripes.

The main body of the amphibious forces under command of Marine Brig. Gen. William T. Clement completed occupation of the bomb-battered Yokosuka naval base on the mainland by noon.

Uppermost in the minds of the first marines, doughboys and bluejackets ashore were the thousands of Allied prisoners and civilians internes awaiting evacuation from the dreaded Jap prison camps.

Hundreds of these liberated already were en route to Okinawa aboard Army transport planes which only a few moments before had discharged airborne troops at Atsugi.

Col. Marl Ricks led the first contingent of airborne troops landing Thursday morning at Atsugi after completion of the 920-mile flight from Okinawa.

An endless chain of giant C-54 Skymasters and lighter transports flying only five miles apart circled over the Jap capital and Hirohito's palace and came to rest on the occupied Jap airdrome.

Adm. Badger's flagship docked at Yokosuka preparatory to accepting the surrender of the Imperial Fleet's principal home base from the Jap commandant.

This correspondent roared onto the Atsugi airfield two hours after dawn in a luxury airliner. As my plane circled for a landing I could see the first group of airborne troops pouring out of the bellies of their transports.

Tokyo bay—once considered an impregnable Jap anchorage—stretched out below us dotted with ships of Adm. Halsey's 378-vessel armada.

Waiting aboard the battleship South Dakota was Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who will sign the formal surrender document Sunday as United States representative aboard the 45,000-ton battlewagon Missouri.

Q—I am writing in regard to the state bonus. I have lived in Massachusetts all my life, but since discharged from the service residence has been in Rhode Island. Inducted from Worcester in 1941. What do I do in applying for bonus? Do you think I am eligible? D. P., Providence.

A—You are eligible providing you resided in Massachusetts for six months prior to induction. Write for bonus application; State Treasurer, Bonus Division, 15 Ashburton pl., Boston 8, Mass.

Q—When is the 395th Inf. of the 99th Div. scheduled to return? F. B., Newmarket, N. H.

A—Latest information states sometime in October.

Q—I have a son whom I heard from last July, attached to 5th Ranger Bn., and would like to know if his outfit is expected home soon? E. S., Dorchester.

A—That outfit has been alerted and should be starting home soon. Due to the sudden change of activities in the Pacific, schedules are being revised on sailings from European theater.

Q—How much notice is required for a former soldier who needs out-patient treatment in Chelsea Soldiers' Home? A. B. N., Malden

A—No notice at all. Just bring discharge papers with him.

Q—Does the Navy discharge men under dishonorable conditions without benefit of court martial? C. E., South Easton

A—No. However, bear in mind that a yellow discharge certificate does not necessarily mean it is a dishonorable discharge. There are three types of yellow discharge certificates: Undesirable, Bad Conduct and Dishonorable.

Q—My husband is an enlisted man in the Army Medical Corps. He has 94 points to his credit, but has not had active duty. Is he eligible for discharge? F. J. K., Dorchester.

A—I believe you mean that he has not had overseas duty. This is a question on discharge. The Army is attempting to release first those with overseas records. Therefore your husband may be detained a bit longer in the service before receiving discharge on point system. May also be declared essential.

Q—Do you know of any free membership for recently discharged veterans in an athletic club around Boston? D. A., Beacon Hill.

A—The Y. M. C. A. has offered free membership to discharged veterans during the period of transition from military to civilian life. That adjustment period has been set for three months.

Q—Under National Service Life Insurance, what is the mode of payment at time of death? R. G., Roslindale.

A—If the beneficiary is under 30 years of age at date of death of insured, it is paid in 240 equal monthly installments at the rate of $5.51 per thousand. If the beneficiary is 30 years of over, then in 120 monthly payments with such continuing during the lifetime of beneficiary. However, regardless of age, under Public Law 452 the beneficiary may elect, in lieu of the above modes of settlement, a refund life income in monthly installments at a slightly lower rate of payment.

Applicants for Bonus Warned of Address

Noting that many World War II veterans are incorrectly addressing their applications for the $100 state bonus, Postmaster Connelly issued a reminder today that the correct address is: State of Massachusetts, Veterans Bonus Division, 15 Ashburton pl., Boston 8, Mass.

The postmaster reiterated that if veterans wish to have their discharge papers returned by registered mail, they must enclose a postal note for 20 cents.

Try knocking out Hay Fever the scientific way

NEW!... VITAMIN
Trial Treatment for
HAY FEVER
BRINGING AMAZING RELIEF TO MANY HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA SUFFERERS
WHEN DUE TO ASCORBIC ACID LACK
VEGETRATES A-S-C may be just what you need

AMAZING hope for the relief of hay fever and asthma and other conditions due to allergies has been reported by a famous professor and other doctors.

For years hundreds of thousands of people have wandered about, unhappy sniffling and sneezing, and itching and wheezing for a few months each year, while doctors were baffled by the seriously prolonged "colds" and were at a loss as to how to treat them.

A great many scientists have been working to find something to give relief in these allergy conditions. Now, in high quantities of ascorbic acid some of them think they can offer fresh hope to the man or woman who is unfortunate enough to suffer from hay fever or asthma.

Large Quantities of Ascorbic Acid Relieved 88% of Cases in Clinical Tests

During a period of four years, a famous scientist had noticed that the body's supply of vitamin C seems to go down during hay fever attacks. So he decided to experiment with actual results of using unusually large doses of ascorbic acid in treating 25 human hay fever sufferers during the height of the hay fever season. These 25 hay fever sufferers were given large amounts of ascorbic acid daily and there was a decided improvement in 88% of the patients participating in this experiment.

Hay Fever—"Out"—Amazing Relief the New Scientific Way

Check with your doctor. Ask him what 100 mgm. ascorbic acid can do for the sufferer of hay fever, asthma and food allergies.

Three well known doctors recently reported in a prominent medical journal that cases of bronchial asthma showed marked improvement when the blood was saturated with ascorbic acid, which is the basis of "VEGETRATES A-S-C."

We all know that in this life nothing is certain. These tablets may not help but—taken with a mucus free diet should prove beneficial. Hay fever sufferers wishing to experiment with this high potency ascorbic acid can now get extra high strength ascorbic acid in easy-to-take tablets at the Nature Food Centres Stores. These tablets are called "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS." Think of it!—all this ascorbic acid in one small tablet! Try "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS" at once. They are inexpensive to use and are absolutely harmless. Each tiny "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLET" contains 100 milligrams of ascorbic acid, over three times the minimum adult daily requirement. One or two of these tablets daily should be enough to give this a fair trial.

"VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS" will be found highly beneficial in improving the general condition, as well as effective in establishing systemic resistance to allergies.

Extra high strength ascorbic acid, as found in "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS," offers such great promise of success in these miserable sensitivities that every hay fever sufferer should try for relief now. Why suffer this season if "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS" may stop that sneeze? Get "VEGETRATES A-S-C TABLETS" today at any Nature Food Centres Store. 100 Tablet Bottle $2.50. Mail orders postpaid. Quickest Foods

By MARTHA LEE

ALTHOUGH "shrimp" may mean something "little" according to slang parlance, it becomes a big idea when you consider the canned kind for summer main dishes. Shrimp are one of the quickest foods you can think of when preparing a meal. Hot or cold, they're just the thing to please a summer palate. Full of goodness from their vitamins, minerals and protein, down to their eye appeal, you'll love these luscious summer dishes with their zesty ocean flavor.

SHRIMP A LA KING

3 tbsp. salad oil
1-3 cup minced green pepper
¼ tbsp. minced onion
¼ tbsp. flour 2 cups milk
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 tsp. salt
1 No. 1 can shrimp (7 oz.)
½ cup cooked peas
½ cup cooked mushrooms
Toast.

Heat salad oil in saucepan; add green pepper and onion and cook until tender. Add flour, stir until well blended; add milk, then stir constantly until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat, add lemon juice, salt, drained shrimp, peas and mushrooms. Heat thoroughly and serve on toast. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

SHRIMP-FOR-LUNCH

1 No. 1 can shrimp (7 oz.)
3½ cups ½-inch bread cubes
3 eggs 1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
2 cups cooked tomatoes
Sliced scallion (including tops)

Drain shrimp; combine with bread cubes. Put into oiled casserole. Beat eggs. Add salt, pepper, tomatoes and scallions. Pour over shrimp mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 45 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

SHRIMP HASH

½ tbsp. butter or margarine
1 No. can shrimp, shredded (1¼ cups)
3½ cups finely chopped boiled potatoes
1-3 cup chopped onion
½ cup rich milk
Pepper

Melt butter in heavy frying pan. Mix remaining ingredients thoroughly. Add salt if necessary. Spread mixture evenly in frying pan and cook over low heat. Shake frying pan occasionally. When well browned on bottom, fold like an omelet with the aid of a pancake turner, and carefully turn out on a hot platter. Makes 6 servings.

SHRIMP SALAD

1 tbsp. unflavored gelatin
½ cup cold water
1 cup boiling water
¼ tbsp. lemon juice
2 tsp. sugar ½ tsp. salt
1 No. 1 can shrimp (7 oz.)
1 cup diced celery
½ cup chopped nut meats

Soften gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, sugar and salt. Place 1 whole shrimp in bottom of each of 6 individual molds; cover with a tablespoon of gelatin. Chill remaining gelatin until slightly thickened, fold in remaining shrimp, celery and nut meats. Fill molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing.

POPPY PETAL SALAD

1 No. can shrimp (7 oz.)
¾ cup chopped celery
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. curry powder
4 tomatoes, cut in fourths

Combine first six ingredients. When cutting the tomatoes be careful not to cut through the bottom. Scoop out. Fill with the shrimp mixture, top with walnut meats and garnish with lettuce and watercress.

Fashion Date Book With Perfume Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashions Editor

THIS COCKTAIL and date dress should be shown in color, for its rich gold embroidery, on black crepe woven with Eastman acetate rayon, gives it an air of Oriental splendor. The style is simple and almost universally becoming, with its softly draped bodice, plunging neckline and brief shoulder-widening sleeves. Deep pouch pockets, gathered, form an unusual peplum across the front—R. M.

THERE HAS BEEN much humorous comment on the names which ingenious manufacturers think up for perfumes . . . practically all of them suggesting allure, and l'amour in general.

Well, it must be admitted that most perfumes are named with the idea that wearing them will help a gal catch a certain man, or attract a number of eligible males. And it must further be admitted that from the days of Cleopatra, women bent on conquest has found heady or flowery scent a powerful aid.

So it is sort of honest for a famous manufacturer to come right out and name a perfume after the chase for beaux. It is particularly remarkable because this perfume has what it takes . . . it is just the kind that gets the boys to thinking romantic thoughts.

The parfumeur who makes it, moreover, is so sure that his product will catch beaux that he not only names it frankly but during the next few weeks will present to every girl who buys a bottle a little date book so she can keep her swains from conflicting.

It comes charmingly bottled and packaged, and would make a lovely gift, especially for a teenager. The price is very attractive, too, for although it is almost identical in scent with one of the exorbitantly priced perfumes, this one is within reach of the average college or working girl.

Personally, I love this perfume because it isn't too heavy, nor is it too flowery sweet. It has just enough spice to give it authority, and wouldn't be in poor taste on a very young girl. On the other hand it will also suit a siren.

You can buy this perfume and get your date book with it in one of the Boston shops. Call Liberty 4000 weekdays except Saturdays, before 5, or write me, care of The Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for more details about this perfume.

THIS FORTUNATE young lady has to have a date book to keep track of her beau . . . today's beauty article tells of a perfume which helps to snare the elusive male, and gives you a little date book with each bottle.

THE COURTESY OF "GOING"

To the hostess, the guest who will not leave at once when he or she says "I must be going" is a great trial, a worrisome pest indeed. How about YOU . . . do you linger and linger and linger after you start to leave?—MRS. BEECKMAN.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

NOT "THE MISSUS!" To friends she is "Jane" to acquaintances she is "my wife." She is "Mrs. Brown" to business contacts, but she is never "the Missus!"

Tells Girl He's Through

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

My sister, who is 23 years of age, has been going "steady" with a young man for three years, but he never has given her an engagement ring. He is doing some very important work in a chemical laboratory, so has been deferred from Army service. My sister is always complaining that he never takes her to the places where she'd like to go, but just wants to go to movies.

Once when she and I were out walking, we met one of her former boy friends who asked her to go dancing and she went. When her "steady" found out about it he was furious and told her he was through. Now she doesn't know what to do—whether to try and get in touch with him and explain, or call it quits. What do you think she ought to do? SISTER D.

As your sister and her fiance were supposed to be engaged, and there was never any question of an engagement ring, and he refused to take her any place she wanted to go, it doesn't sound like a very serious affair on his part. The fact that he told her he was through just because she went to a dance with another boy, seems to confirm that he was pretty lukewarm. Your sister still has plenty of time to become engaged to a man who is more serious and less selfish.

Writing Letter of Resignation

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Will you please tell me what is the proper wording for a letter of resignation?

SANDRA.

A letter of resignation, say from a club, is written to the secretary of the club, usually mentions the date on which the resignation is to take effect, and gives, if possible, the reason for the resignation. Also it is gracious (particularly if the club is a small, friendly one) to include one's regret at having to withdraw from the cordial relationships of the club.

For example:

Mrs. Arthur Adams, Secretary
The Community Club,
Home City.

Dear Mrs. Adams:

I deeply regret that I must resign from membership in The Community Club, my resignation to take effect Oct. 1, when my family and I are moving to Vancouver. Being a member of our club has been a special happiness to me, and I shall carry with me many very pleasant memories of friendships and service I have had the privilege of sharing. Very sincerely yours,

SANDRA SMITH.

Tip on Table Manners

When a vegetable or other food-item is served in a small individual dish (a "side dish," at the side of or above your dinner plate), don't pick up the dish and "slide" the food from its dish to your plate. Use a serving spoon, or serving spoon and fork, to transfer the food (a portion at a time, if you wish) to your dinner plate.—MRS. BEECKMAN.

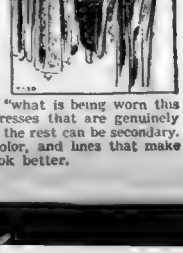
Dress That Flatters You

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE fateful days of decision are here, when all women will be getting new clothes. Most of us like a new dress to start the fall with, whatever else we may get. And I have a thought for you dress pickers to ponder over when you go out to buy.



Irene, M-G-M's top designer, who makes clothes for many of our biggest movie stars, says you ought to get yourselves a really becoming dress. She thinks everyone should make it a point to get the prettiest dress, for their own personal looks, which can be had. And this correspondent heartily endorses the idea.

Don't let high pressure salesmanship get you to pick a dress just because it is new, or is "what is being worn this fall." Get yourselves dresses that are genuinely flattering to you, and all the rest can be secondary. This means becoming color, and lines that make your own body lines look better.

Is England Reviving the Same Old Sterling Bloc?

By AUSTEN LAKE

Austen Lake

IT LOOKS AS THOUGH AMERICA is learning to keep its chin covered and its left hand high, to use the language of the prize ring. We've been clipped by foreign governments too often to think the sly, ring-wise nations of Europe won't try to stab thumbs in our eyes, use the rabbit punch or butt in the clinches.

It happened after the last war, as I propose to tell. And today a very revealing dispatch datelined London says "England is disturbed over an American military order advising U. S. soldiers to convert pounds into dollars, 'to guard against loss.'"

That sounds innocent, eh? But it's ominous!

Washington may be guarding against the same trick which Britain pulled after the last war when it suddenly jumped off the gold standard and took almost every other foreign nation with it. That left Uncle Sam, with his huge gold stocks, holding the satchel. English pounds, French francs, Spanish pesetas, Italian lire and all foreign currencies flopped to fraction of U. S. money values.

It wasn't an accident! It was an economic conspiracy, concocted in the skull of Jonathan Bull! And it precipitated the worst depression in American history!

They Declared Economic War!

ENGLAND FORMED A "SILVER BLOC," based on sterling and formed a foreign currency exchange fund of $750,000 from itself and 18 other nations. The object was to control the dollar exchange by selling Sterling and buying dollars to keep the Bloc's money depressed and make U. S. money dear. So the Pound was controlled at about $2.94 then, instead of the $4.86 it was derived from 5 to the $1 to 25, and so on all along the line. And in order to make this hat-trick work, the Sterling nations set up price control boards to prevent commodities from soaring higher as their own money stamped lower.

The object? So Sterling-Bloc members could flood America with low-priced goods by benefit of the depressed exchange, while preventing America from exporting high-cost goods abroad. It's all on record in Congress.

Frinstance, say a British shoe manufacturer made a pair of oxfords to sell at one pound. If he sold in London he'd get only one pound. If he sold in New York or Boston, he'd get five pound 10 shillings by the exchange rate. Or he could drop his U. S. price and still make a nice exchange profit. And American merchants, always eager for a bargain, bought his goods at the cheap figure in preference to U. S. standard makes at higher price and less quality.

But when that same British shoemaker came to buy leather to manufacture more shoes he wouldn't buy from U. S. tanneries because he'd have to pay one-third more than a Sterling market. So the British controlled exchange worked against American trade both ways. That's only an example. All American industries were affected similarly.

Sardines came from Norway at prices which ruined Maine canneries and forced two out of three to close. Novelty shoes came from Czechoslovakia at amazing bargains. Raw cotton from Egypt was cheaper than our own product. Butter from New Zealand undersold our home-churned product. Cream, poultry and pork from Canada, toys from Germany, steel from the Krupps. There was no end to the influx of foreign stuffs which swallowed our tariff duties and grinned like the ox who gulped the family cow. U. S. business couldn't cope with the Sterling Bloc's manipulated exchange.

Japan Worked Its Own Racket

JAPAN WASN'T A LODGE MEMBER of the Bloc. But Japan was already off the gold standard and with its low-wage scale ran her import racket independently. She delivered sea-scallops at 25 cents that can and put New England's scallop industry on the blink. Her rubber-soled sneakers were in every U. S. 10 cent store. Her cheap electric light bulbs lighted almost every U. S. Christmas tree. Even her cotton swamped our sea-food shops, although that commodity had a 30 per cent U. S. tariff tax. But the Japanese yen was discounted by 60 per cent, so the little brown runt still made an enormous profit, which, when added to his advantage in dollar-exchange, made him fat, rich and sassy.

Just imagine what happened to our rubber-shoe business when an American big-lot buyer held up his order on 2,000,000 pairs until the U. S. manufacturer decided whether he could meet the Jap sidewide bid? Or what effect it had on New England salt fish trade when Norway offered 12,000,000 pounds of salt filets of cod at prices lower than the New England fishermen could deliver, even if they went out of the ocean into their brine vats and thence to the show case.

Or what happened to the U. S. pottery plants when the Jap landed a dozen hotel coffee pots, duty paid, for 86 cents while the same U. S. pot cost $3.44. The Jap potter was paid 42 cents a day while his American colleague received $4.60. That gives you a rough idea!

But back to England's Silver Bloc! Every adult Bostonian remembers shopping during the late 1920's and early '30's and seeing trays, counters and shelves loaded with foreign articles. Salesmen took pride in announcing: "Look at this foreign label! Better and more reasonable!" Sure it was! A man could buy an English tailored suit at less money and finer quality than the standard brands of U. S. clothes. Why shouldn't he? Sterling manipulation gave the English tailor a one-third leeway in his fabricating cost.

Thus, little by little American industries withered on the stalk. Those which survived were obliged to clip workers' wages, or employ fewer people at longer hours. And the big depression was launched and lasted until the late FDR declared his bank holiday, took us off gold and set us on economic evens with the Sterling conspirators. But not till 1933!

Signs are that Washington suspects they are at it again! That London military order may be the tip-off!

Bruins Will Have Power; Grimes Heads Writers

Bill Grimes, Boston American sports reporter, was elected chairman of the Boston chapter of the International Hockey Wri ters' Ass'n last night at a meeting at the Hotel Manger.

Bill Grimes

The new IHWA will take over the selection of National Hockey League all-star teams and will name the various trophy winners. Detroit, New York, Chicago, Montreal and Toronto are other members of the association.

At the meeting, Manager Art Ross of the Bruins revealed some of his plans for the 1945-46 season which will start when the B's report Oct. 10 to their Quebec City training camp. Gallinger, Goldsin, Bruce, Terry Reardon and Roy Conacher may be there for the drills. Ross is getting communications daily from former Bruins who heard the bugle call and who now are being discharged from service. War veterans will get preference, according to Ross. A year ago the Bruins were afflicted by a manpower shortage; now they have a demoned surplus to contend with. It may be that a farm out-let, possibly Hershey, Pa., in the American League, will be acquired.

The Dutch Treat Line of Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart is due back about Nov. 1. No word has been forthcoming from U. S. Coast Guardsman Frank Brimsek, thought to be enjoying a tour to Japan at the present time.

So much talent is returning that Ross expects to be able to retain only six of last year's squad. The guesstimate is that Pat Egan, Jack Crawford, Bill Cowley, Murray Henderson, Herb Cain (unless traded as rumored to Montreal) Mc-Gill will not feel the swing of the axe which must fall to make room for the accomplished returnees.

Ross has a problem in the goal if Brimsek is discharged. Backstops Paul Bibeault and Harvey Benaett are still on the reserve list. Other prominent Bruins of a season back who may be forced to step down are Jack Shewchuk, Bill Jennings, Bill Cupolo, Ken Smith, Frank Mario, Gino Rozzini, Paul Gladu, Arman Gaudreault, Four Olympic standouts, who would be moving up to the varsity this season except for the atom bomb, were sold to Hershey—Tom Rennan, Marcel Fillon, Russ Kopak and Al Rittinger.

By Jan. 1, 1946, boss Ross thinks he'll have the Bruins back at full strength — at pre-war stature. Meanwhile he and other NHL moguls will meet in Montreal Sept. 6-7 for the semi-annual

Shore to Operate New Haven Eagles

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Aug. 30 (AP)—The New Haven Arena today announced that Eddie Shore, 42-year-old fireband of big-time hockey and one of the game's most astute strategists, has taken over the New Haven Eagles in American Hockey League.

Professional hockey will be returning to New Haven for the first time in three years and while Shore said it was impossible at the moment to name his prospective team, he told newspapermen confidently:

"Any club that beats us will know they've been in a hockey game."

Shore is bringing to New Haven a team which, in the two months he had been "building up for three years," New Haven, which never has boasted a championship team, may get one this season if Shore's hopes are achieved.

With one or possibly two exceptions all of the players he has in mind are seasoned professionals and 80 per cent will be men who have seen military service.

That, in a sense, will compensate for Shore's own inability to join the armed services. Too many broken ribs, noses and dislocated shoulders received in a long and spectacular career on the ice made him ineligible for military duty.

New Haven, resolved to re-enter the hockey field, has been casting about for a suitable arrangement and Shore became available at the right moment.

The former Boston big-leaguer will have sole charge of the club. In fact, it will be his club, for Shore, who owns nearly half the contracts of nearly 90 professional players, has become a big-time operator in the rink business.

In taking over the resurrected Eagles, Shore will be performing an iron man assignment—but not on the ice. He is also operating the Ft. Werth, Tex., Rangers of the United States Hockey League and plans to devote his time about equally between the two clubs.

Sandlot Football to Be Helped by Kerrigan

By JACK CONWAY

MAYOR JOHN E. KERRIGAN is going all out for sandlot football. He has made arrangements so that every youngster in the city will have a chance to play football.

The sandlot teams will be coached by competent instructors, while the youngsters will be assigned to teams in their own age group.

Mayor Kerrigan

A boy merely has to have the desire to play football. Many youngsters have never had an opportunity to play the game on an organized team. Mayor Kerrigan says expert coaches will teach the boys how to play the game.

Phil Kehoe has been placed in charge of the sandlot football teams and he has established headquarters at the board of recreation, Pinebank, Jamaicaway.

I know the Mayor will see that the players are properly equipped for such a strenuous game as football, and that each applicant is given a physical examination. It is always wise to throw every possible safeguard around the health of our youthful athletes.

Football is a typical American game, says Mayor Kerrigan.

McCoy at Corpus Christi

AL McCOY, a member of the Navy's Shore Patrol, did much to alleviate suffering and distress as the hurricane swept through Corpus Christi, Texas, where he is stationed. There is a large navy base at Corpus Christi and the personnel did everything possible to aid civilians when the hurrican swept over that area.

Mrs. McCoy and her daughter, Lenda Carol McCoy, live in Jamaica Plain. They are looking forward to the time that Al completes his Naval service and returns home.

Henie Olson, who wrestled at shows promoted by Paul Bowser, is Al's brother-in-law. He has seen Army service in France and in Germany.

Al Buchwald, another brother-in-law and a star athlete, has been with the Army Medical Corps.

The McCoy family have reason to be proud of what its members have done in the war.

When Al returns home, he will resume managing the tavern in Lynn which he owns with Bill Brennan, his former manager.

Fair Purses Up

RACING Sec. Jimmy Picarillo says the minimum purse at the Northampton Fair that will open on Labor Day will be $500. There will be a purse of $800 for the Northampton Inaugural Allowance on opening day. This will be a six and a half furlongs event and it is expected to attract some good entries.

There will also be a $800 purse for the Au Revoir Allowance a week from Saturday.

Picarillo says he will have 160 to 175 horses at Northampton and that he expects to be able to arrange eight attractive races for each afternoon. The fact there has not been any fair racing since Marshfield closed last Saturday has given the horsemen ample time to ship to Northampton.

The Brockton Fair will open its six-day meeting on Sept. 10, while Great Barrington's six-day meeting will get underway on Sept. 17.

It is expected that in 1946 Topsfield and Weymouth will be added to the fair circuit.

Another Jockey Hurt in N. Y. Spill

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—For the second straight day spectators at the Belmont race track witnessed a serious accident in the steeplechase. Jockey Johnny Harrison died last night after suffering a fractured skull yesterday.

Today Joe McCullough, 28-year-old rider from Gull Lake, Sask., suffered what appeared to be an identical injury in a fall with Milton Seidt's Knight's Armor in the hurdle event.

Knight's Armor led nine rivals over the second barrier, then went down in a heap. McCullough rolled clear, started to get to his feet and then apparently was hit by an oncoming horse. He was taken to a Jamaica hospital.

Babe Rubinstein to "Call" Gansett Races

ROCKINGHAM, Aug. 30—Ralph "Babe" Rubenstein, popular announcer at Suffolk Downs and Rockingham Park has been signed in the same capacity at the coming Narragansett Park meeting. Rubenstein will replace Horace Wade, who has resigned that post.

This will be the first time that Ralph will announce over the Gansett horns, although he has broadcast earlier races for a Providence network.
